CONCEPT

For this IT company headquarters, our design approach transformed a large industrial space into a bold, high-performing workplace that reflects innovation at its core. We began by organizing the vast area through strategic spatial planning balancing private zones, collaborative hubs, and circulation flow. Visually, the striking red structural elements and sculpted white surfaces create a dynamic contrast, while refined materials and clean lines reflect the company's forward-thinking identity. The result is a powerful, functional environment that supports productivity and embodies the energy and ambition of a tech-driven brand.

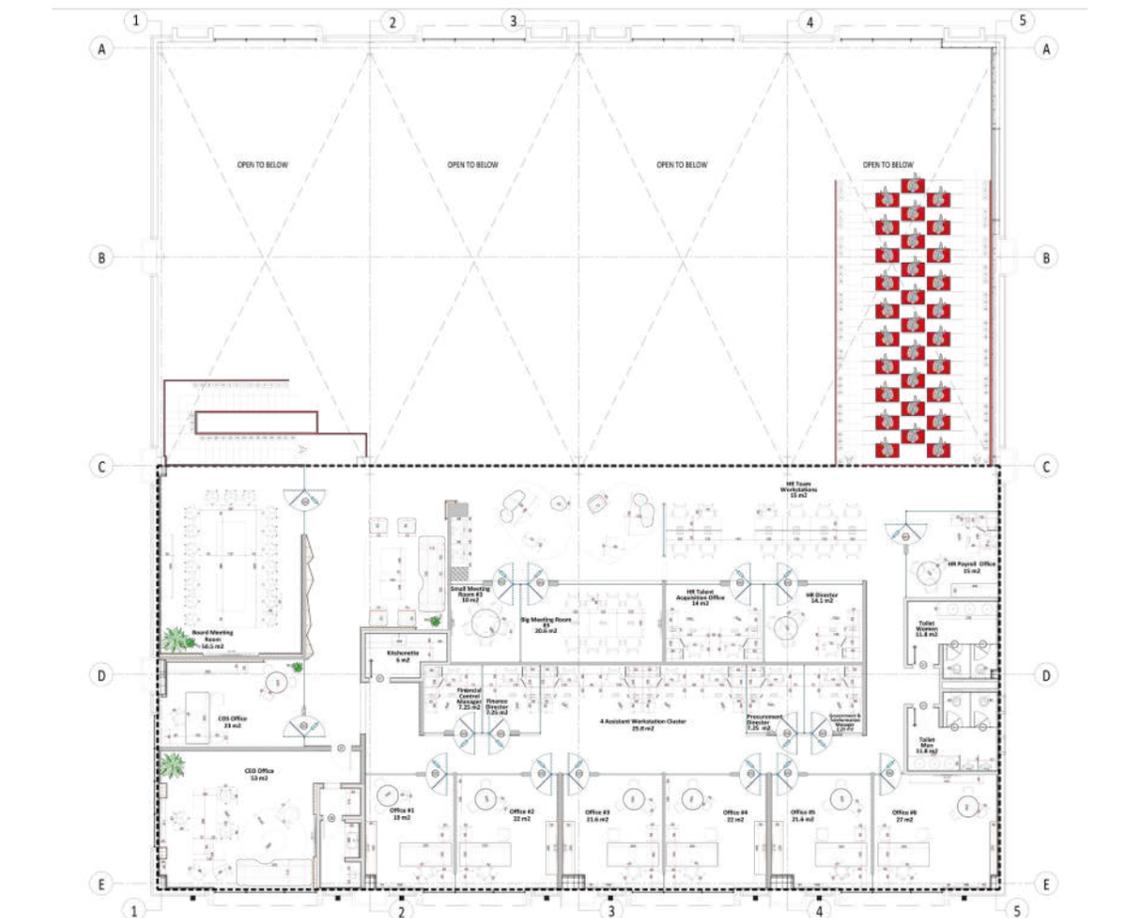

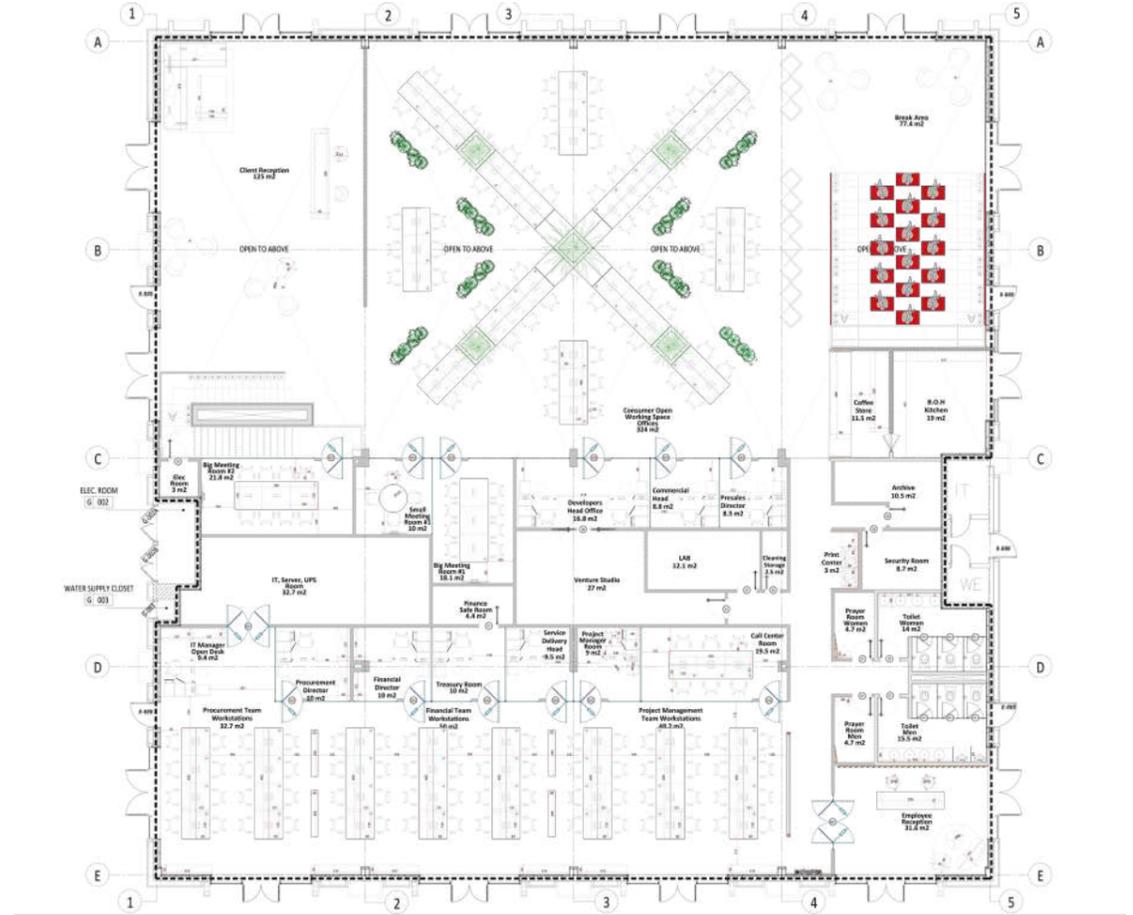

To complement this, the C-level area was designed with a more luxurious and refined touch offering an elevated experience that reflects leadership, sophistication, and executive focus.

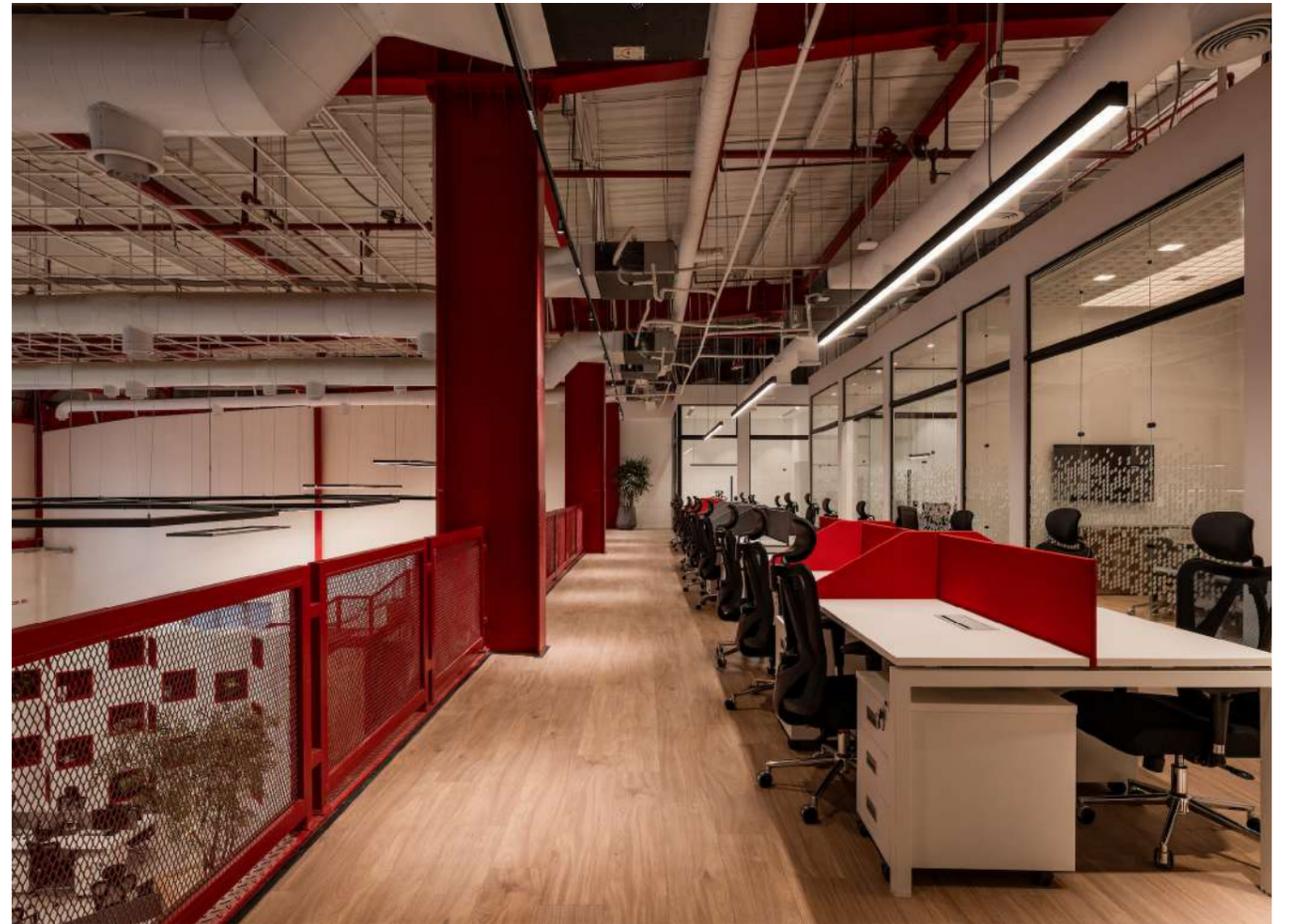

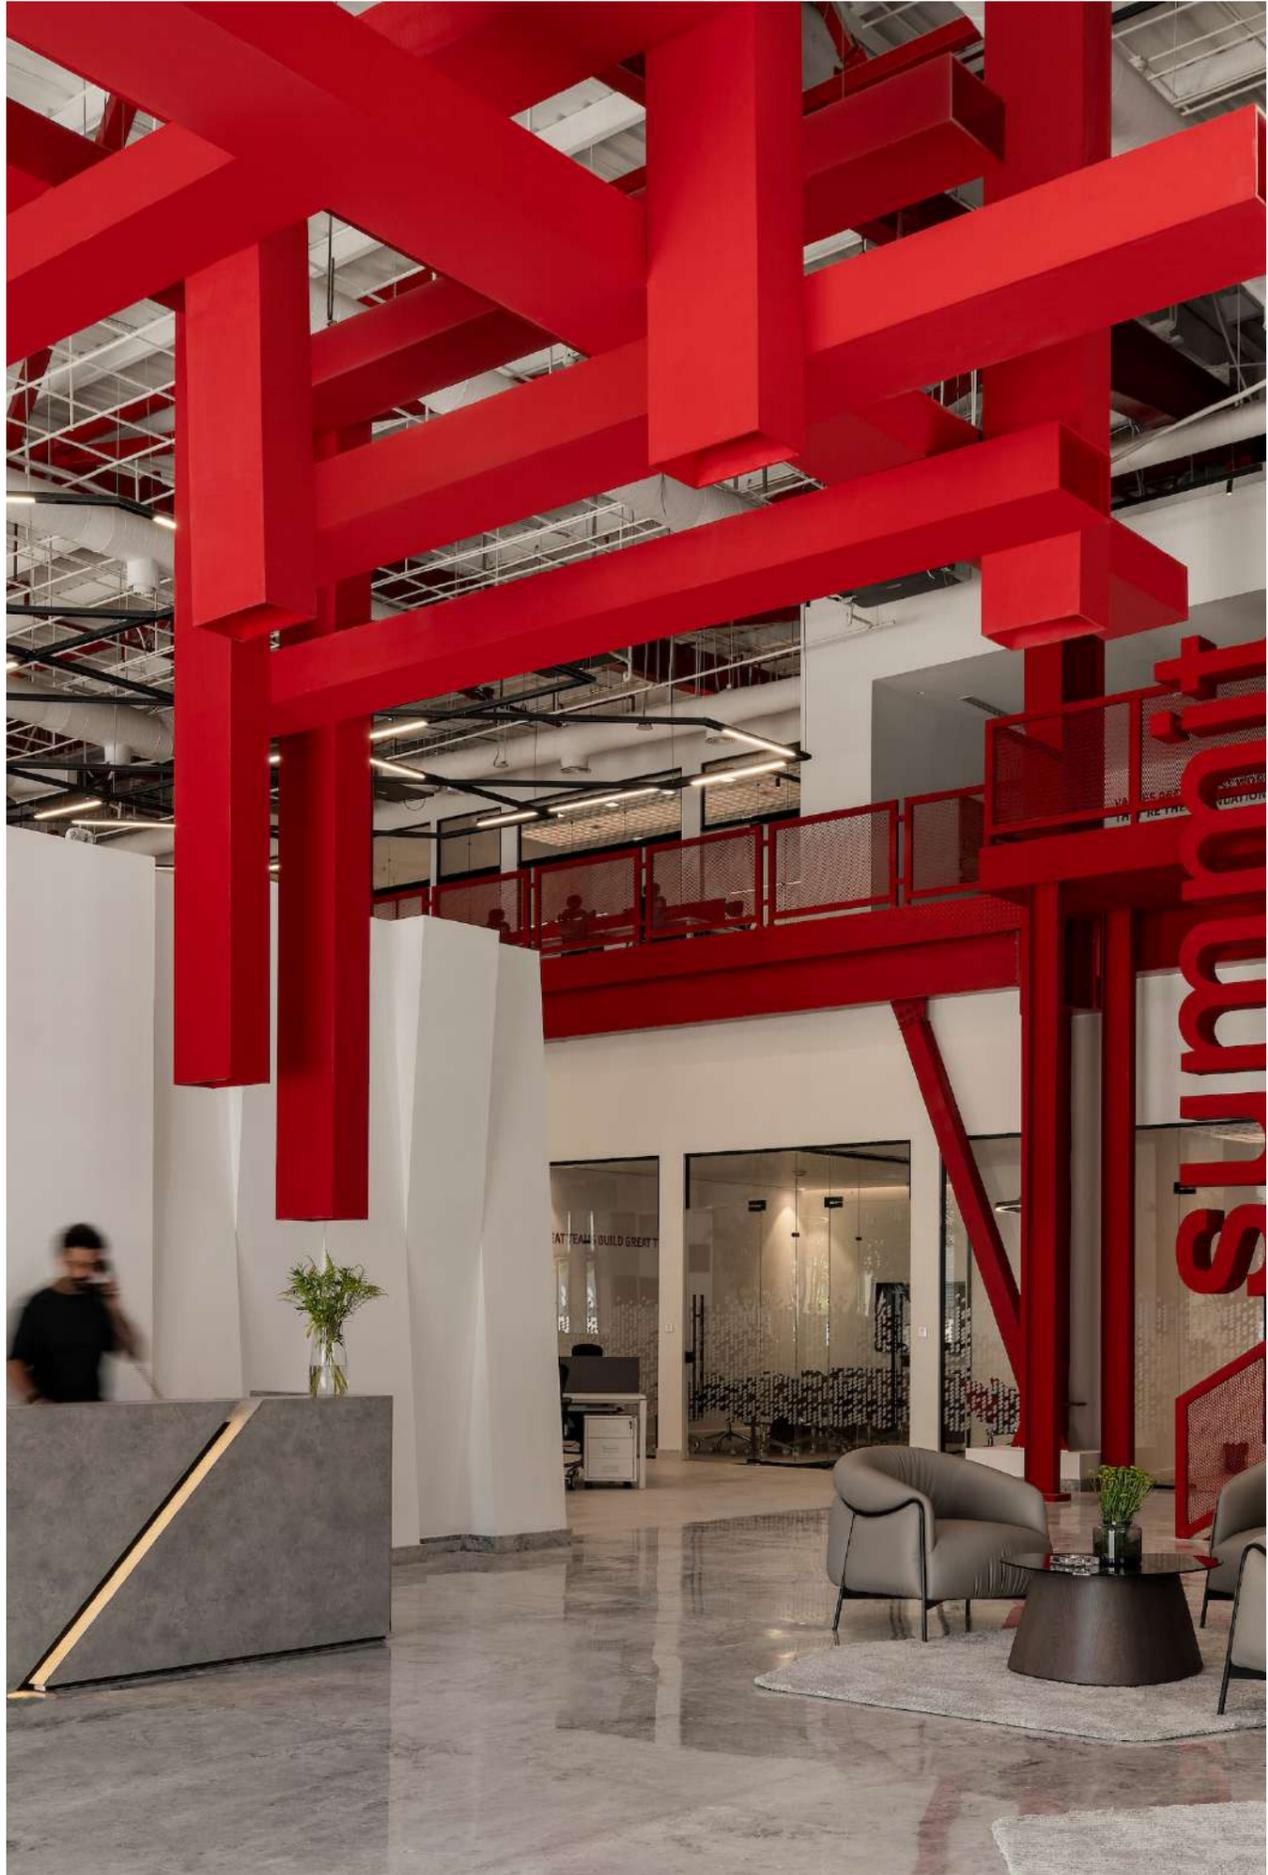

PLANING

Planning this 2,000 m² office building required a highly strategic approach to space organization, functionality, and user experience. With numerous departments operating under one roof, each with specific spatial and operational needs, our team focused on creating a clear and efficient layout that fosters both productivity and collaboration. We began by conducting a thorough analysis of departmental relationships, workflows, and daily movement patterns to inform the zoning strategy. Departments were grouped and positioned to optimize adjacency, minimize disruption, and streamline communication. Circulation paths were carefully designed to ensure a natural flow throughout the space, while maintaining privacy where needed. The result is a cohesive, well-balanced environment that supports the diverse functions of a growing IT company while enhancing overall efficiency, comfort, and team synergy.

PLANING

Spatial planning was guided by the idea of contrast and coexistence steel meets soil, concrete meets canopy. Lighting is intentionally ambient, with accent lights grazing the textured walls and casting soft shadows around the tree, enhancing the atmospheric depth.

We also designed the space to feature an indoor-outdoor bar, open from both sides, blurring the boundaries between inside and out and reinforcing the social, open nature of the space.

Ultimately, Gigi Burger Bar is more than just a place to eat it's a destination where raw design and natural elements collide to create a bold yet inviting dining experience. It reflects a new kind of urban hospitality: rough around the edges, rich at the core.

IZAKAYA RESTAURANT

JAPANESE MINIMALISM MEETS PERUVIAN FLAIR

The Izakaya Restaurant and Bar is a unique fusion of Japanese precision and Peruvian flair, seamlessly blending two distinct cultures into a cohesive and enchanting dining experience. Located on the scenic Marassi Marina, the design draws inspiration from both the meticulous craftsmanship of Japanese architecture and the vibrant, colorful essence of Peruvian art.

CONCEPT

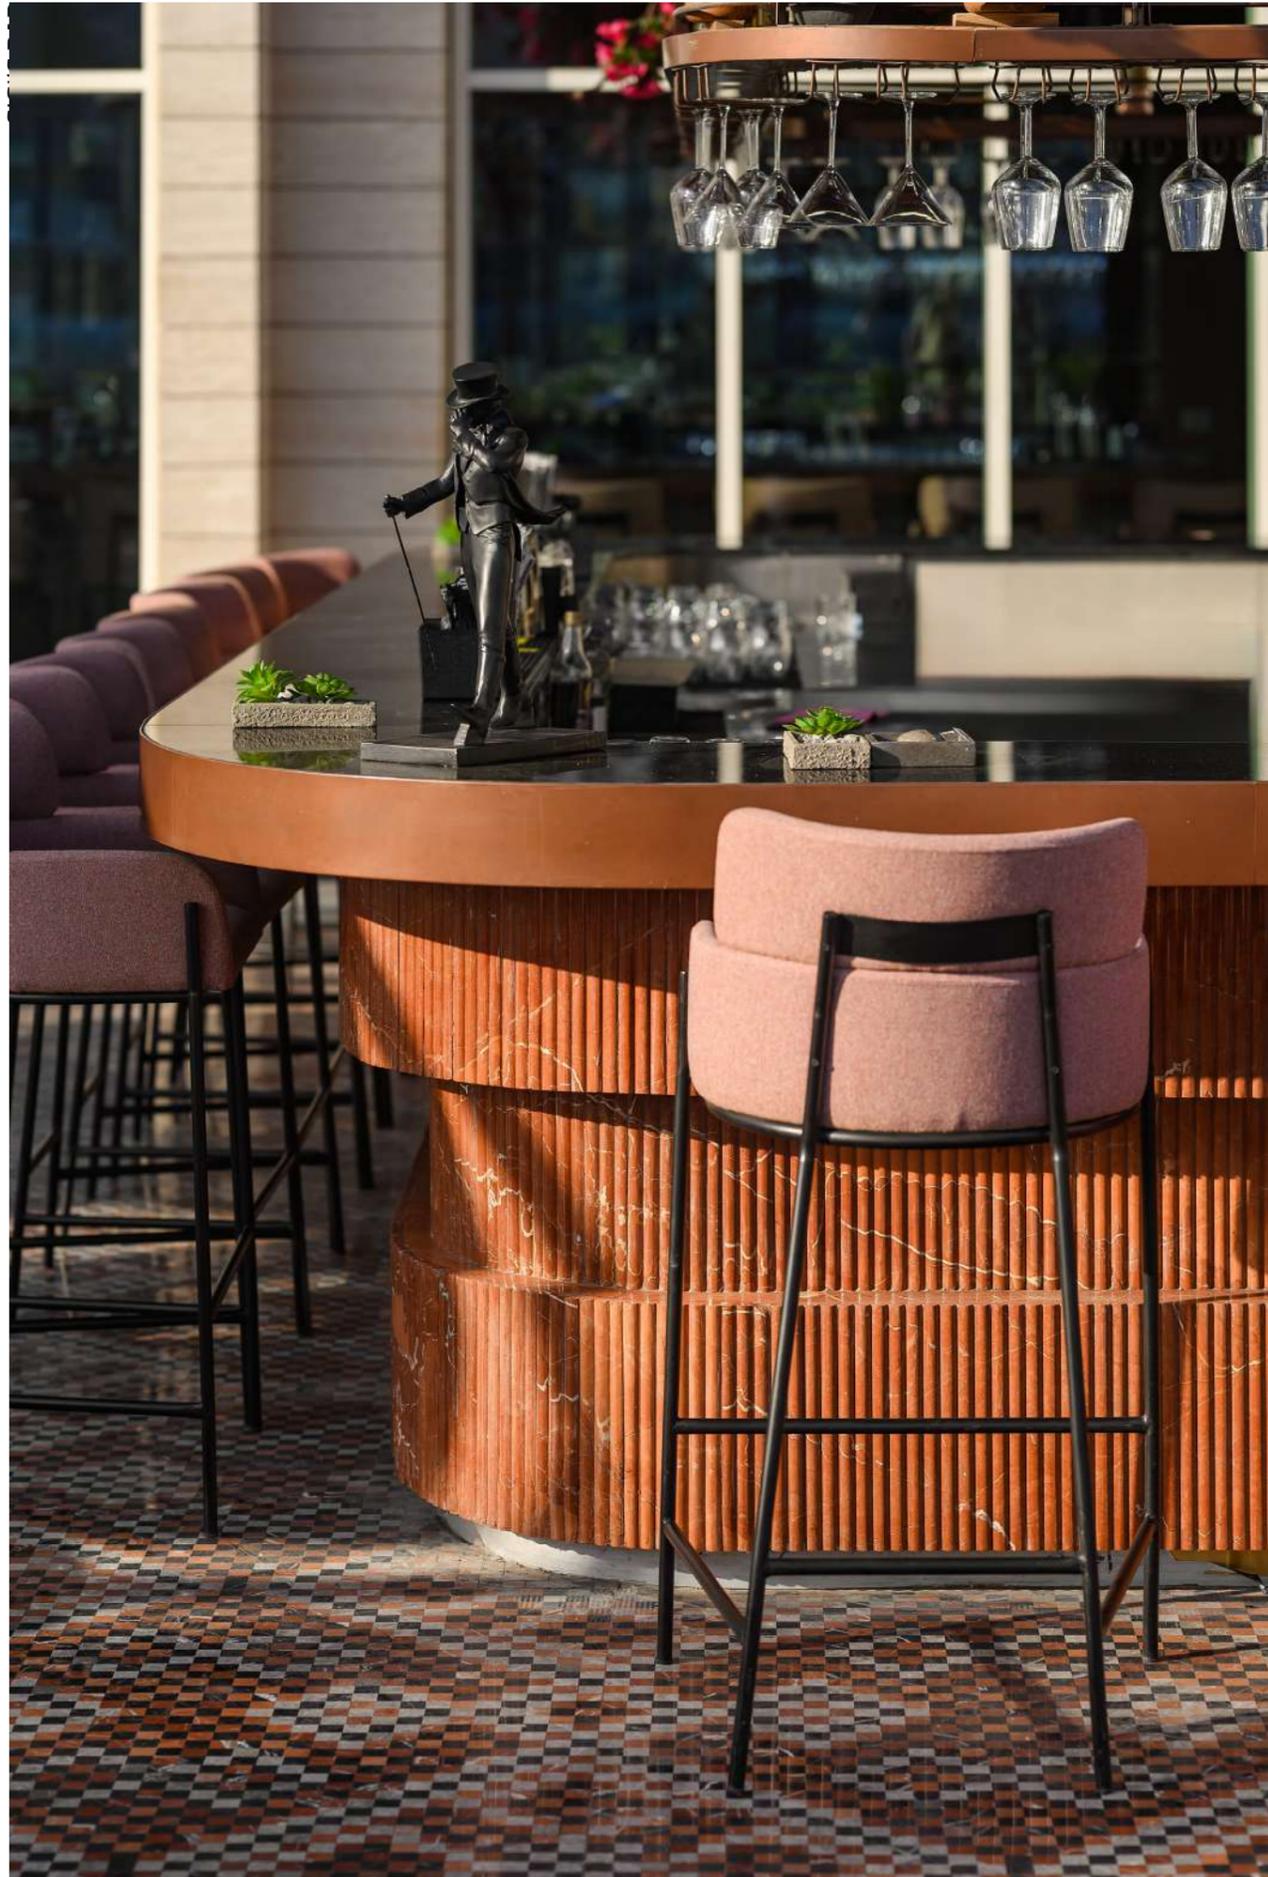

Our concept was to create a space that is both minimalist and richly textured, where raw materials such as wood, stone, and natural split stone come together in harmony. The restaurant's design is a study in contrasts, balancing the clean, austere lines of Japanese tradition with the dynamic, exuberant patterns of Peruvian culture.

The color palette is intentionally bold, with the color red playing a central role—symbolizing authority, strength, sacrifice, joy, and happiness. This color, revered in Japanese culture, is complemented by a Peruvian-inspired marble floor that surprises with its vibrant combination of colors, adding an element of playful energy to the space.

The entrance features a black-tile wall, its fluid lines and harmonious structure evoking the classical roofs of Japanese houses, while the restrooms are executed entirely in traditional red, a nod to the significance of this color in both cultures. The luminous panel behind a wooden pattern in the restroom adds a modern touch, merging traditional and contemporary elements seamlessly.

At the heart of the restaurant is the bar, with a dynamic wooden ceiling structure made of fine louver panels set at different angles, creating a moiré pattern that captures the eye. The bar itself is crafted from red Rosso Alicante marble, and the flooring features a Peruvian marble pattern, further emphasizing the fusion of these two rich cultures.

The result is a small space with a bold presence and a distinctly inviting atmosphere.

CONCEPT

This café is a celebration of contrast where sculptural minimalism meets urban warmth. The concept centers around transforming a small, narrow space into a bold yet welcoming environment through fluid architectural forms, tactile materials, and ambient lighting. Curved lines soften the layout, while a neutral palette with warm undertones adds depth and vibrancy.

Every design element is curated to elevate the customer experience, making the space feel open, dynamic, and effortlessly cool. The result is a compact café with a strong identity inviting, expressive, and full of life.

GIGI RESTOBAR

A GREEK IDENTITY WITH TRADITIONAL AESTHETICS

Gigi's, a Greek burger bar, asked our team to design their location at Ghazala Bay on Egypt's North Coast, integrating them with the feel of this popular beach destination, and the aesthetics of the local Bedouin people's culture.

CONCEPT

In this Greek burger bar by the beach, our team used trees and trunks found on site to create a soothing atmosphere.

Our team wanted to blend the restaurant Greek identity with traditional aesthetics so that it blends effortlessly with the environment. Framing the Mediterranean with its clean outline, the bar's main entrance neighbors a cypress tree - a holdover from a previous restaurant that occupied the site. When our team got to the location they found this cypress tree left to decay and surrounded by storage and junk, they felt like it didn't belong in some backyard and instead should be the main focus of the space. It ended up embodying the spirit of the place. It's the only striking aspect of the venue, while everything else is simple and reserved. The 15 meters-high cypress provides shade during the day, and after our team complemented it by hanging lighting pendants from it - provides light at nighttime.

Most of the palette we used was off-white, it was only the bar stools that had a distinct red color as the brand's logo was adapted to look more vibrant at the beach. So our team made the connection to their summertime identity on the natural leather stools.

As tree trunks cover the entire venue, organic shadows are printed onto the design's minimal walls, further emphasizing our team approach of being minimal and unobtrusive without pouring artificial materials into the space. Taking into consideration the slightest of details such as only using cactus families for the landscaping, as the venue is meant to operate year-round, the restaurant evokes an atmosphere imbued with calm visuals, Greek music, and ultimately, the sand and sea.

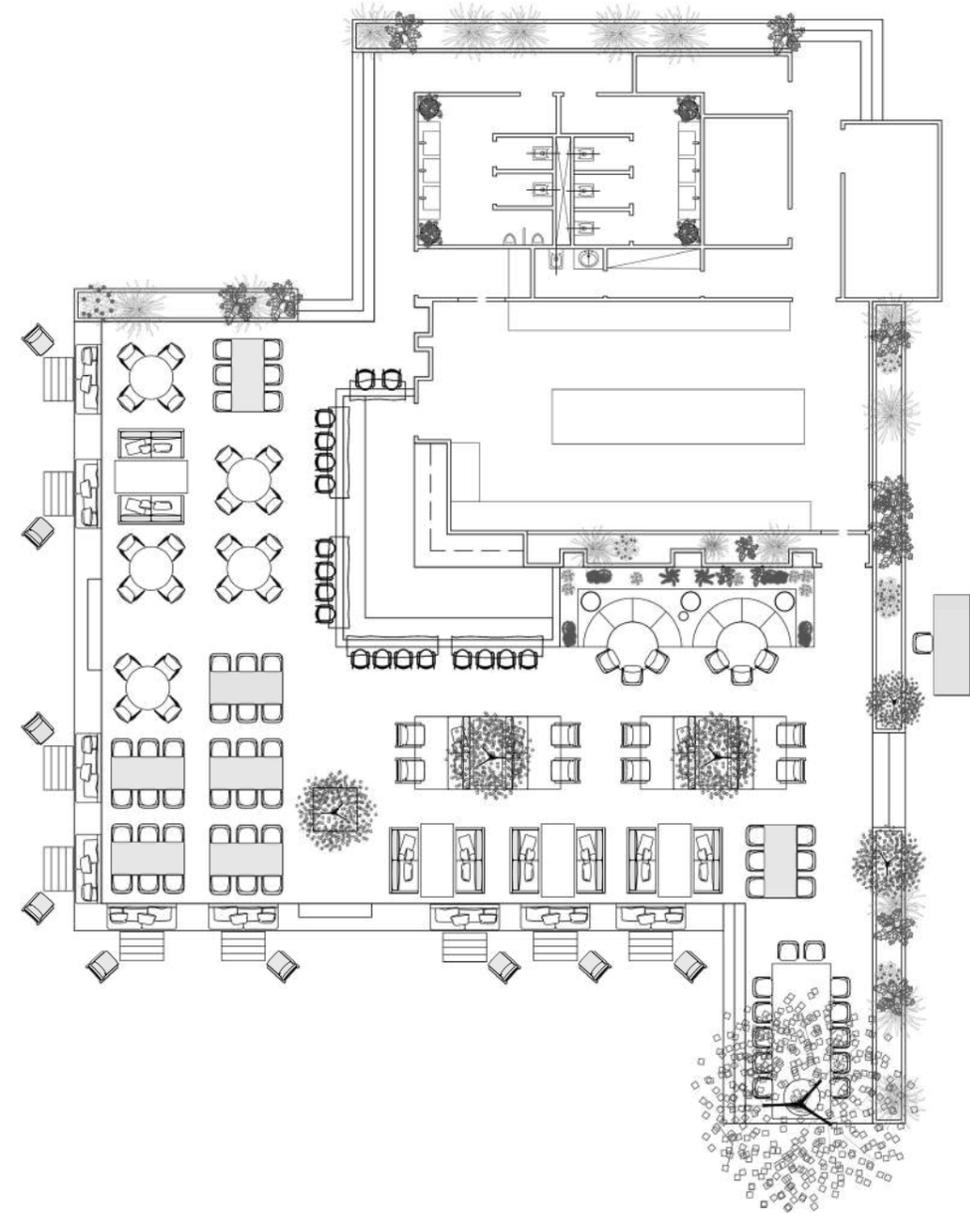

PLANING

Our challenge was designing an open beachfront restaurant that embraces the stunning sea views. Our team designed a spatial layout that maximized the panoramic vistas, ensuring unobstructed sightlines from every angle. Incorporating elevated platforms and outdoor dining areas, guests will have the opportunity to immerse themselves in the natural beauty of the beach while enjoying their meals. The design utilized a neutral color palette and natural materials, complementing the coastal surroundings. The goal was to create an unforgettable dining experience that seamlessly integrates with the breathtaking sea views.

Gigi's design is oriented to view the sea from all spaces, whether you're dining in the main area, drinking at the bar, or enjoying uninterrupted views from the sea-level lounge area where you're a literal footstep away from sand.

CONCEPT

Our challenge as the Spaces Architects Studio was to design a seafood restaurant spanning three floors, incorporating a contemporary nautical theme. By seamlessly merging modern aesthetics with maritime elements, we have created a dining experience that is both visually captivating and immersive. The careful integration of panoramic views, culinary craftsmanship, and elegant design elements has resulted in a space that invites guests to embark on a memorable journey, indulging in the finest seafood while surrounded by a captivating nautical ambiance.

First Floor
The first floor offers elevated dining areas that overlook the ground floor atrium. The design of the dining areas will prioritize comfort, style, and a connection to the overall aesthetic of the restaurant.

Second Floor

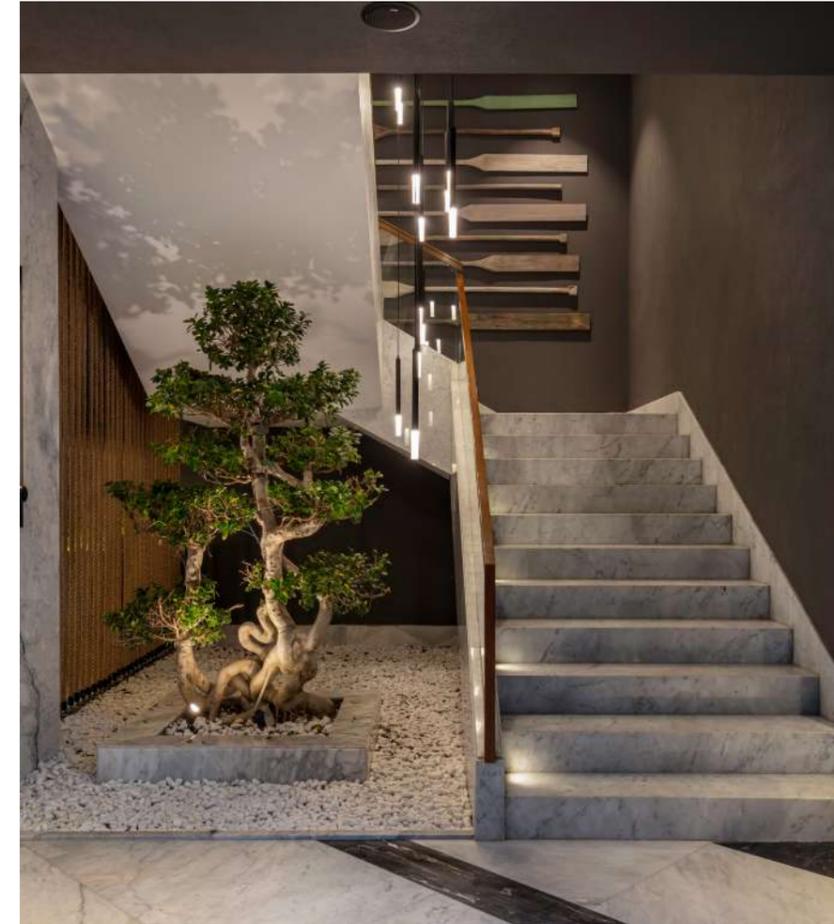

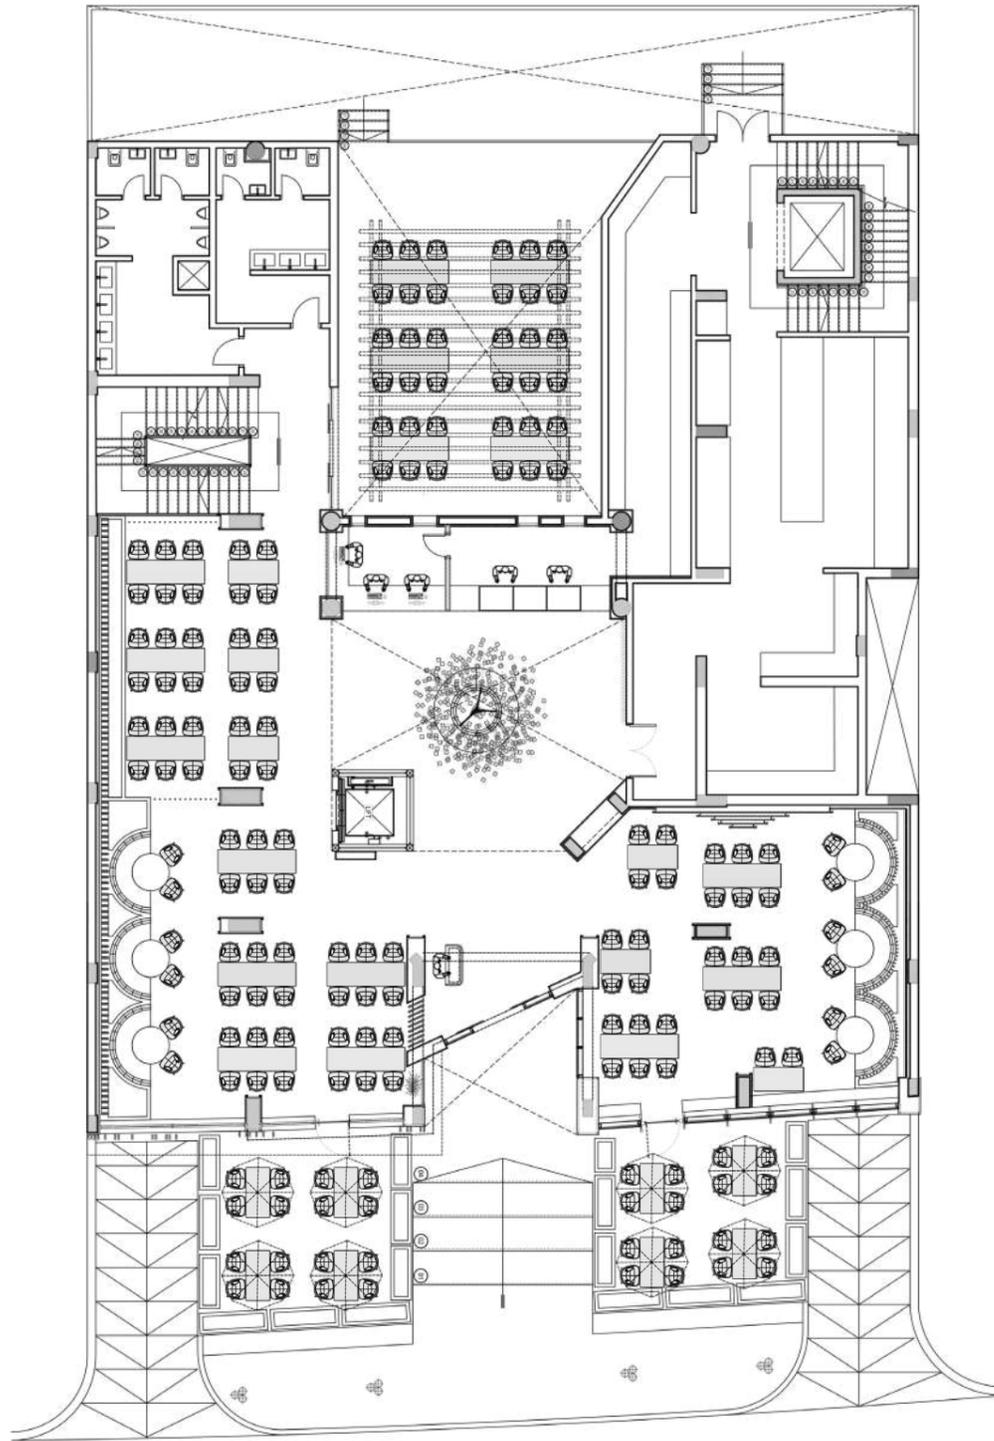

To provide an exclusive experience, the second floor was dedicated to VIP lounges. These lounges offer a more intimate setting for discerning guests, providing privacy and a heightened level of service. We ensured that the design of the VIP lounges reflects sophistication and elegance, allowing guests to indulge in a truly memorable dining experience.

A panoramic elevator, strategically located to transport guests effortlessly between the three floors. This elevator serves as a functional and visually captivating element, allowing guests to enjoy panoramic views of the restaurant as they move between levels.

To effectively serve the expansive restaurant area, the kitchen designed to occupy space across all three floors. This configuration optimizes workflow and efficiency, ensuring that the culinary team can deliver exceptional dishes promptly.

Throughout the restaurant, we paid careful attention to lighting, acoustics, and ventilation to create a comfortable and inviting ambiance.

To enhance the restaurant experience, our team incorporated a grand marble and wood counter at the atrium's center. This counter showcases a wide selection of fresh seafood, allowing guests to visually engage with the culinary offerings. Surrounding the atrium, we created various dining areas, providing guests with a range of seating options to suit their preferences.

PLANING

Our team at Spaces Architects has carefully considered the client requirements for a seafood restaurant spanning over 2500 square meters and three floors. We have created a planning concept that maximizes the space's potential while ensuring a seamless flow for guests and staff. The ground floor serves as the main entrance and reception area. Our team made a stunning design with a huge atrium at its center, flooded with natural daylight through a large skylight. The atrium created a sense of openness and connection to the surrounding spaces.
